

Fishing Long Island's Spring Creeks

A presentation for the Long Island Fly Fishing Expo March 17, 2018

So you have fished Beat 12 at Connetquot and Beat 4 at Caleb, and maybe the C Dam on the Carman's – but there is so much more!

Whether you are a new fisher or one who has too many rods, this presentation will refresh your thinking on all the opportunities Long Island offers.

Presented by Peter Dubno Jr. and Tom McCoy, with no doubt some contributions from the other committee members who updated the guide, as well as audience, it should be a good time for all.

5 major river systems are discussed, and many more mentioned; some history you may not have known, some insight on the spots you have not yet been to, a few tips on releasing fish and perhaps the most needed information – a discussion on how to react to a fisher who tromps on your water.

Come for the story, stay for the tips and go home with a copy of the new stream guide – Trout Fishing on Long Island's Spring Creeks.
